The Return of Sherlock Holmes Adventure XXXI – The Adventure of the Solitary Cyclist

Violet rode upon a bicycle.
To two swains she was like an icicle.
For her hand they both tried:
They cut cards for a bride
But Holmes got her out of the pickle.

Sandy Kozinn

Violet Smith rides her bike and thinks it weird
To be followed by a man in a bushy black beard
Holmes and Watson take a short ride
And prevent her becoming an unwilling bride
Marriage was always what Holmes feared

Karen Olson

She did bike to the train every week,
A man followed and seemed to be meek,
Though it did appear queer,
There was nothing to fear,
'Twas her freedom from harm he did seek.

Bill Dorn

Another Violet asks for Holmes's aid
Back to the Carruther's house Holmes bade
The partner is Woodley
Described as a bully
Holmes arrives in time for a wedding stayed
